INT. CHURCH OFFICE - DAY

A small office, lots of blond wood. Boyce wears a priest's collar, kind of looks like John Oates.

TEXT: DERMOT BOYCE, DIRECTOR OF NEW YORK DIACONATE

BOYCE

No, no. Exorcism is extremely rare, a ritual that requires training and faith and the authorization of a Bishop. But let's not confuse faith and superstition.

A cut, later in the interview:

BOYCE (CONT'D)

Any rumors of some sort of "special team" of elite exorcists are just that. There's no such thing as "Hellbound Saints." It's the kind of story created to discredit the church, or give dishonest hope to those lacking in faith. They simply do not exist.
